She is Gone

You can shed tears that she is gone
Or you can smile because she has lived.

You can close your eyes and pray that she will come back
Or you can open your eyes and see all that she has left.

Your heart can be empty because you can't see her
Or your heart can be full of the love that you shared.

You can turn your back on tomorrow and live yesterday
Or you can be happy for tomorrow, because of yesterday.

You can remember her and only that she is gone
Or you can cherish her memory and let it live on.

You can cry and close your mind, be empty and turn your back
Or you can do what she would want: Smile, open your eyes, love and go on.

Marion was diagnosed with an aggressive Lymphoma of the Pancreas in July 2012 and underwent Chemotherapy for three months, and in December was given a great result. All the scans came back clear, but as so often happens (so it would seem) it re-occurred again in May 2013 and would not respond to either Chemotherapy or Radiation treatment. It is with great sadness to all those who knew Marion so well, that she passed away peacefully on 24 November 2013.

During all of this, we remember Marion's bravery and being so appreciative of so many wonderful angels in disguise (carers, supporters, medical professionals and friends) who so unselfishly provided the necessary support to continue the journey.

Now in the care of her loving Saviour Jesus Christ, we as a family miss her dearly and look forward to that great day, when we shall meet again in heaven.
