“Mozza”

Maureen will be remembered as a woman who made her mark in everything she did, be it her career as a Registered Nurse, a wilderness adventurer, film maker, clothes designer, devoted Presbyterian or mum to Hannelore and Nathaniel.

Her battle with a rare form of cancer was a hard burden after having spent the best part of 10 years caring for patients as a nurse based at Concord Hospital's Intensive Care Unit. She recognised that the treatment was going to be difficult as there is so little information available on Extra Renal Rhabdoid Tumour, and basically her oncologist had to experiment and rely on overseas publications for treatment of children who this form normally afflicts. Alas the chemotherapy was too much for her and the illness did not ultimately respond as hoped.

The donation that made this memorial possible came from her friends, family and colleagues, and I am sure she would be pleased to see that her wishes to help other sufferers has been fulfilled.

34 years young and sadly missed.
