TO MY SOUL MATE FROM PETA DAWSON

Death is nothing at all. You have only slipped away into the next room. Whatever we were to each other that we still are. I call you by your old familiar name. I speak to you in the easy way I did. I laugh, as we always laughed, at the little jokes we enjoyed together. Your name is the household word it always was. It is spoken without effort. Life means all that it even meant. It is the same as it even was. There is absolutely no unbroken continuity. Why should you be out of my mind because you are out of my sight? You are waiting for me, in an interval, somewhere very near, just around the corner. All is well. Nothing is past, nothing is lost. One brief moment and all will be as it was before, only better, Infinitely happier and forever.

We will be one together with Christ.

I MISS YOU SO MUCH DEAR MATE.
